A Proud Tradition

The VMI Swimming & Diving program boasts a proud tradition, one that includes 11 championships dating back to its days as a power in the Southern Conference. The Keydets took eight SoCon Championships in nine seasons between 1954-1962, and added a ninth title in 1965. That tradition was continued last year, as VMI claimed their second-straight Northeast Conference Championship in only their fourth season in the League. In addition, the program boasts ten former members in the VMI Sports Hall of Fame, and most recently saw one of its members achieve First Team Academic All-America status.

Mark Roltch '83

Roltch is the program's most recent inductee into the VMI Sports Hall of Fame, earning induction in 2001. A three-time NCAA qualifier in the three-meter dive, Roltch also qualified in the one-meter dive as a senior. In his first three years on post, he won the Southern Conference three-meter competition three times, before the League discontinued its sponsorship of the sport prior to his senior season.

But that did not deter Roltch. As a senior, Roltch went undefeated in 16 competitions, and again qualified for the NCAA's for the third consecutive season. He finished his career as the school record-holder in each of the six diving categories.

Tom Petykowski '05

In the spring of 2005, Petykowski was not only named as VMI's Valedictorian, but also became the first member in the swimming program's history to be named an ESPN The Magazine Academic First Team All-America selection. That came on the heels of his selection as an All-Northeast Conference diver, as he helped the Keydets to a second-place finish at the Championships.

Petykowski was the Institute's first Academic All-American to receive First Team designation in 17 years, and was only the sixth Keydet to ever receive First Team honors. He was also the first of those six to achieve the honor in a sport other than football or basketball.

Coastal Collegiate Swimming Association

Four NCAA conferences announced the formation of the Coastal Collegiate Swimming Association (CCSA), a new active Division I men's and women's swimming and diving Conference encompassing 12 members from four regional Conferences in the Mid-Atlantic and Southeast regions on July 10, 2007. The CCSA, which began competing this fall, was established through the cooperative efforts of the coaches, administrators and commissioners of the Atlantic Sun Conference, the Big South Conference, the Mid-Eastern Athletic Conference and the Southern Conference, and has received approval from the NCAA for membership as a Division I conference.

"The Coastal Collegiate Swimming Association creates a regional conference championship opportunity for all the swimming and diving programs in the four participating conferences," said Atlantic Sun Commissioner Ted Gumbart, Executive Director of the CCSA upon its foundation. "The process of building this new conference has been an extremely cooperative effort among all of the coaches and administrators, and we look forward to our inaugural championship meet this coming year. The main focus in establishing the CCSA has been the student-athletes, and we are excited that the swimmers and divers in each of our leagues now have a conference home and honors for which to compete."

The CCSA has 12 total members – 12 women's swimming and diving teams and six men's swimming and diving programs. The charter members of the CCSA in women's swimming are Campbell (A-Sun), College of Charleston (SoCon), Davidson (SoCon), Florida A&M (MEAC), Florida Gulf Coast (A-Sun), Gardner-Webb (A-Sun/future Big South member), Georgia Southern (SoCon), Howard (MEAC), North Carolina A&T (MEAC), North Florida (A-Sun), Radford (Big South) and VMI (Big South). The six schools that comprise the CCSA men's swimming members are College of Charleston, Davidson, Florida A&M, Gardner-Webb, Howard and VMI. The CCSA will host its inaugural Conference Championship on Feb. 21-23, 2008.

"The formation of the Coastal Collegiate Swimming Association could not have come at a better time," commented Florida Gulf Coast women's swimming coach Neal Studd. "Florida Gulf Coast University begins its first ever season this Fall, and this gives us a home to be proud of and a very competitive environment for our team to continue to improve in. Watching the commissioners of four conferences work together for the betterment of swimming and diving and all the athletes in our programs has been inspiring."

"The Coastal Collegiate Swimming Association membership includes many excellent programs from the Southeast and Middle Atlantic, and will create a demanding and challenging meet for all of those involved," said VMI swimming and diving coach Bill Nicholson. "This is a step up for our program here at VMI and we are looking forward to getting up on the blocks and racing against the higher level of competition the CCSA will present us."
